

People with disabilities

When the moderator tells you, turn your back to the board. You will play with your back to the board. If you need help, you can ask the other members of the Board to help you. The additional rule does not apply to your contact with the moderator.

